North American Workshop on Food Waste Reduction and Recovery

The Commission for Environmental Cooperation is pleased to invite you to its North American workshop on Food Waste Reduction and Recovery.

The objective of the workshop is to provide a forum for government, industry, business and other experts from Canada, Mexico and the United States to share and discuss opportunities to reduce food loss and waste across the food supply chain, with an emphasis on post-harvest food production, processing and manufacturing, distribution, retail, and foodservice. The CEC will also seek input from the participants on the initial research findings from the CEC study on Characterization and Management of Food Waste in North America.
